paragraphs, with a few comments. The own foul thoughts! opening paragraph is as follows:

When the news of the victory of Buens Vista spread like prairie fire throughout the land, the two great parties were preparing for the nomination of such men as in their estimation were best mind is the dwelling of life and beauty: fitted for the Presidential chair. The Democratic party had already cast their eyes upon their favorite leader of the present day, the Hon Lewis Cass. They called for his opinions of the the universal Democratic party.

The intelligent reader will recollect Gen. Cass' "satisfactory" letter to the Chicago Convention; his more than "satisfactory" letters on the Wilmot Proviso, because he broken. espoused both sides; his "noise and confusion" speech at Cleveland; and more than all will he recollect the "satisfactory" mantory" insight into the political knowledge arch of ambition, or the grasp of powerand candor of the Banner.

But to the second paragraph: -

Gen. Taylor's fame, alone, in a military point of view, sufficed to bring his name before the people at an early day. The faction hanner soon was raised, and adorations in its praise came from the heart of every melcontent of party The General pandered to the will and wishes o such men, and lost no time in yielding to a nomination. He was then a candidate of no party he was but the dupe of hungry office hunters and designing demagogues.

Paragraph fifth, and last:

This is a plain statement of the manner in which the name of Gen. Taylor was forced before the people in connexion with the Presidency .- Let him deny it best who can.

There should have been one more paragraph; setting forth how a portion of the democratic party, in Pennsylvania, Louisi ana. and other places, broke down party farriers, and nominated the brave and patriotic old General; and then, with a few transpositions and corrections, and the knowledge all intelligent persons possess of his position, it would be seen, how men of all parties forced his name even against his will, before the country in connexion with the Presidency.

Recent news shows, also, very clearly. that they are going to force him into the White House. Success to the People's bushel, according to quality; bacon, 31a31; whiscandidate! We want a few more such key, 184c; dried apples, 85c; potatoes, 40c.

TO THE DADLES. The Genuine Balm of Columbia, for restoring the Hair.

Long hair is a glory to woman,," says Paul, And all feel the truth of the Pious quotation, Preserve it then, ladies-your glory may full,

Unless you protect it with this preparation If you wish a rich, luxuriant head of hair; free from dandruff and scurf, do not fail to procure the Genuine Balm of Columbia. In cases of baldnes it will more than exceed your expectations. Many who have lost their hair for twenty years have had it restored to its original perfection by the use of this balm. Age, state or condition appears to be no obstacle whatever; it also causes the fluid to flow with which the delicate hair tubea is filled, by which means thousands (whose hair was gray as the Asiatic eagle) have had their bair restored to their natural color by this invaluable remedy. In all cases of fever it will be found the nost pleasant wash that can be used. A few applications only are necessary to keep the hair from falling out. It strengthens the roots, it never fails to impart a rich glossy appearance, and as a perfume for the toilet it is unequalled; it holds three times as much as other miscalled hair restoratives and is more effectual.
